Well done –

You are now at the top level of the academy, you should now be climbing regularly at different locations and entering competitions. Lower grades should be looking to you for inspiration and help, and you should be setting a good example to them all by sharing your knowledge and skills whenever its required.

Level Six is about proving that all the above is true so keep working on your grades and helping others then you can call yourself a BOULDERER.

List climbing experience here..
